Additional Information

The illustration should represent the investment scenario you wish to explore with your client. Once finalised the illustration will provide the investment forecast that demonstrates suitability and supports the financial planning process.

You will be able to revisit and alter the investment parameters in the 'work area' to explore the 'need to take risk' and explore a client's capacity for loss.

A client should never be invested in a strategy that represents a higher level of risk than they are willing or able to take. It may be that following discussion with the adviser, a client may wish to revise their 'Attitude to Risk' for a specific objective.
